UTERQUE

It's almost impossible to find navy footwear and for a navy obsessive like me, that's forever a problem. So, up step these knock-out boots from the excellent Spanish website Uterque to ease my wardrobe woes. Muchos gracias! £165, uterque.com/gb.

SELF-PORTRAIT

Because of the swiny, ankle-grazing length of this jumpsuit the fancy, lacy top half doesn't look OTT for daywear. Self Portrait strikes again and I'm adding to my collection. £250, self-portrait-studio.com.

2ND DAY

A go-to Danish label for simple silhouettes in less-than-simple finishes like this tactile patent skirt. It'll look great with a cosy knit and knee boots. £360, 2ndday.com.

ISA ARFEN

Like all of my dream fashion elements in one coat: the 1970s, chestnut brown, shaggy faux fur, a flattering shape with all of the warmth you could ever wish for... Designer Serafina Sama has created my ultimate lust-worthy piece. £1,755, net-a-porter.com.

RELATED

Victoriana is one of the season's less approachable trends – unless we're talking a ruffled white blouse, in which case, it's easy! I'll be looking to this small slice of costume drama to add a little frou to tailoring. £135, relatedapparel.com.
