

COSMOPOLITAN

FEBRUARY 2015, ₹150

THE BEST THAT YOU CAN BE

SEX & LOVE

'Tis the Month for Kinky Qs, Dating Secrets, and the Love You Want

Gorgeous Hair for Every Reader!

THE EXACT PRODUCTS YOU NEED TO GET THERE

MEET THE TRENDS

BE THE FIRST TO KNOW SUMMER 2015's MOST LUST-WORTHY LOOKS

Jacqueline Fernandez
"THESE ARE MY LOVE RULES"

THE LIPSTICK COLOUR PROVEN TO ATTRACT GUYS

WHY COSMO SUPPORTS DOING NOTHING (Sometimes)

#SMILEYFACE
HOW TO HAVE A BETTER DAY AT WORK

9 770974 378207
cosmopolitan.in

The NEW COLOUR You'll be Wearing In 2015

Pantone just declared the colour of the year, and everyone's obsessed...

Every year, Pantone chooses The One—the colour that will govern trends and set the style circuit ablaze. This year, that colour is Marsala—a brown-y red, like an earthy wine. “The impactful, full-bodied qualities of Marsala make for an elegant, grounded statement colour,” said Leatrice Eiseman, Director of the Pantone Color Institute. Within minutes of the announcement, the net-verse was buzzing with mixed reactions. New York Mag called the shade “icky”, and The Atlantic compared it to “dried, freaky blood.” On the other side, though, Marsala-inspired wedding ideas began trending by the dozen, the IKEA Share Space endorsed that it ‘works well with a variety of colours,’ and Pinterest was aflood with warm-red mood boards (including the Marsala Collection by Saatchi Art that has garnered many a pin). And when we went celeb trend-spotting, we found that Kim K, Taylor Swift, Blake Lively and many others had already gone the muted-scarlet way. So, are you ready to Marsala-ly your own wardrobe? Look below for some pieces to get you started...

RACHEL SIN

Blake Lively

CHRISTOPHER NANE

Kim Kardashian

Asymmetrical wool jersey top, Isa Arfen, ₹33,500 approx, @net-a-porter.com

Berry peplum coat, ₹8,200 approx, @missselfridge.com

Oyster Perpetual Day-Date watch, Rolex, price on request

Corded Towel Bordeaux, Maspar, ₹550 (set of two)

Leather fringed boots, Marc Jacobs, ₹35,600 approx, @forzieri.com