MINDY KALING

"I love culottes on other people. I saw Ruth Wilson wearing them at the Veuve Clicquot polo thing—she completely pulled them off. I go to work every day with seven people I adore but whose job is to make fun of things. Culottes are low hanging fruit, as they say."

GRACE CODDINGTON

"I can't stand them. I really can't."

LIV TYLER

"Anything that looks like a dress but is actually shorts I'm really into.

I'm a little bit of a tomboy. I love all-in-ones and jumpsuits and skirts that look like skirts but are secretly shorts. Skorts? Is that what they're called?"

PETRA COLLINS

"I just bought my first pair today. They make me feel sorta Palm Beach-y grandma, which is very cool. I'm going to wear mine with a baby tee."

JILL KARGMAN

"I'm anti because I don't wear pants at all. I'm like one of those Hasidic women but without the wig. I only wear skirts and dresses. I feel, like, raped by denim. I don't even own jeans."

RACHEL ZOE

"Way pro. I love them. I wore them as a kid and I wear them now. My husband 100 percent has said they're man repellers, but I love them. I like when women wear them with slides. It's so chic and resort-y. I also love them with a lady pump."

CASEY NEISTAT

"What's to like about culottes? They're shorter than pants, but not as good as shorts."
